Business District Expansion Faces Conflicting Opinions

By Sue Aucella Deacon

In light of Andover's growing population, the town's Central Business District is more than ready to grow, too; in light of the amount of office space that remains vacant today, Andover's downtown business district is just fine the way it is: Those were the conflicting views the Planning Board heard this week during a well-attended public forum on the CBD.

About 100 townspeople, including downtown businesspeople and residents, came to Memorial Auditorium Tuesday night to offer the planning board their opinions on the business district.

Chairman Margaret Bradshaw explained that her board has promised to bring a report on the CBD to 1986 annual town meeting next spring.

Now at the beginning of their study, she emphasized, the planners are "a neutral body" with "no assumptions" about what their report may conclude nearly a year from now.

"We are asking for town-wide input," Bradshaw told the audience. "Tonight is our night to listen."

During the summer months ahead, the Community Development and Planning department will collect and analyze data on the business district, and draft a report that will be ready for more public meetings in September, the chairman said.

The planners will then write a final plan next fall, and host further public hearings on that plan next winter before they present it for town meeting's approval in Spring 1986.

Tuesday night's audience seemed to split down the middle on the question of whether the CBD's current boundaries should be expanded — apparently the question of greatest interest to those who took part in the 90-minute discussion.

A number of citizens spoke on the "con" side, including Suzanne Stephens of Summer Street, a 20-year resident of the town.

"For twenty years," she said, "I have heard that there is no parking downtown. For twenty years, any time, any season I have driven downtown, I have been able to find a parking space within half a block of anywhere I wanted to go.

"I do not feel there is any need to extend the business district in downtown Andover," Stephens told the board. "I think our business district is plenty large"

Wayne Grant of School Street said he believed CBD expansion is "not justified." Andover should pay attention to the "quality" of its downtown business area, he suggested, "not just the quantity."

He added that the notion that moving town offices to Bartlet Street has brought a business atmosphere to that residential neighborhood — as was suggested during town meeting this year — is "a red herring." Town offices do not represent business, he said, but government.

Grant concluded that Andover has "a great deal of room for improved control over parking in the area," citing Boston-bound commuters' virtual monopoly on all-day parking spaces downtown.

One Andover businessman, who is also the newly-elected president of the Andover Chamber of Commerce, agreed that the business district should probably be left as it is, at least for the moment.

Speaking as a private citizen and School Street resident, Richard Chapell of Andover Photo quoted the aphorism, "If it ain't broke, don't fix it." At this point, he said, "The CBD is good — it works."

He added, however, that parking is "without question a problem" downtown, particularly in the Elm Square area, and that high rents (Main Street retail space currently leases at $18 per square foot, he said) "could drive the smaller owner-operated businesses out" of Andover.

Chris Holmes of the League of Women Voters reported that after conducting its own CBD study last year, the League concluded that they are "clearly against expansion of the Central Business District." With "many buildings" at least partially vacant, she explained, "there is no need to expand."

Holmes added that in the opinion of the League, it would be "inappropriate to allow creeping expansion, one house by one house by one house," without a master plan for the future of the entire business district.

Richard Bowen of Ballardvale, a former selectman and town manager, also emphasized the importance of formulating a master plan — not just for the CBD, but for all of Andover.

"I find it difficult to understand how

Intern Joins Planners' CBD Study

A graduate student from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill has joined the Community Development and Planning department as a summer intern devoted to the Planning Board's current Central Business District study.

Principal Planner Nancy Jeton of the Community Development staff introduced intern Barbara Shapiro to the Planning Board last Tuesday night.

Shapiro, who took up her temporary post two weeks ago, told the board that as one of her first duties, she had been reviewing Andover's past CBD studies: There have been four such studies since 1962, Jeton noted.

The intern will work with the principal planner throughout the summer, compiling and analyzing data on the downtown business district.

Bonds Released For Accepted Streets

The Planning Board has voted to release bonds for seven streets that annual town meeting accepted as public ways back in April.

With word from Community Development and Planning department staffers that all work and legal documentation has been completed on the new town ways, the planners last Tuesday night voted to release the bonds on Charlotte Drive, Wyncrest Circle, a portion of Ballardvale Road, Cricket Circle, Windemere Drive, Gavin Circle, and Peppercorn Lane.

However, the board still holds bonds on four streets in the Far Corners II subdivision — Belle Haven Drive, Berkeley Lane, Ellsworth Circle, and Wellington Circle.

Principal Planner Nancy Jeton of the Community Development staff told the planners her department was waiting for legal documentation on those streets, and that she expected to receive that paperwork by the end of June.

Hotel Liquor License Transfer On Agenda

The transfer of the corporate all-alcoholic beverages license for the Sheraton-Rolling Green hotel will be on the agenda when the Board of Selectmen meet at 7:30 p.m. next Monday, June 24, at town offices on Bartlet Street.

Andover Hotel Corporation, doing business as the Sheraton-Rolling Green Inn and Conference Center, is seeking a transfer of the liquor license now held by Rolling Green Motor Inn Corporation of Andover. The selectmen will hold a public hearing on the licensing request Monday night.

The hotel, located on Lowell Street near Route 93, includes 188 bedrooms, 16 meeting rooms, two cocktail lounges, a banquet hall and a dining room.

The selectmen are also scheduled to hear a request from Frontage Road Associates for low-interest industrial revenue bond financing; that request also needs the approval of the town's Industrial Development Finance Authority (I.D.F.A.).

Tea Lots Hearing Continues Tuesday

A continued public hearing on the Tea Lots Estates off Woburn Street and Ballardvale Road is among the items on the Planning Board's agenda for their next meeting, scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, June 25, at town offices on Bartlet Street.

The board opened a hearing on alleged tree-stripping in the Tea Lots permanent green space during their last regular meeting on June 11. That hearing will continue next week, when more information is expected from town staffers on the green space problems.

In addition, the board will discuss new preliminary plans for Mill Dam Estates, a 31-lot development proposed for a 63-acre site off Rattlesnake Hill Road and Woburn Street. The board reviewed the original plans for that site in April.

And the planners are scheduled to consider preliminary plans for Ashmont Acres, a four-lot subdivision proposed for a site off North Street and River Road.

The feature-length movies and cartoon shorts will begin at dusk. In the event of rain, scheduled movies will be shown on Tuesday.

"Doctor Doolittl" will kick-off the films on July 1. In one of the all-time children's classics, Dr. Doolittle (Rex Harrison)

The movie program is funded in part by donations from local business establishments. Donations are being accepted at the Department of Community Services, Town Offices, Bartlet Street, Andover. The department would like to thank the following contributors of the 1985 Family Movie Program: Andover Chamber of Commerce, Andover Savings Bank, Arlington Trust Co., Backstreet, Borden Chemical Co., Dyonics, First Essex Savings Bank, The Hampshire Press, Hewlett-Packard Co., Kenneth P. Thompson Co., New England Foundation for the Arts (Touring Program), New England Stores, Parker Brothers, Polo Clothing, Raytheon Co. and Scanlon's.

Band Officers Chosen

The Andover High School Competition Marching Band is preparing for the 1985-86 marching season. Four new officers have been created to increase student participation and interest in the band's activities: John Stephens, president; Arlene Ciaccia, vice president; Karen Gray, secretary/treasurer; Stacey Enos, freshman representative. Kristen Duffy has been chosen as drum major to lead the band on the field.

The band will run a car wash on Saturday, June 22, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the high school.

The sixth annual marching band competition will be held at Lovely Field on Sunday, Sept. 29, featuring bands from all over New England and an exhibition by the University of Lowell Marching Band.

Completes Army Course

Army Private Joseph K. Fauteux, son of George Fauteux, 18 River St., Andover, and Joanne C. Spellman of Laconia,N.H., completed the basic field artillery cannoneer course under the one station unit training (OSUT) program at Fort Sill, Okla.

Students were taught the duties of a howitzer or gun section crewman. They also received instruction in communications, maintenance and the handling of ammunition and explosives.

OSUT is a program combining basic training with advanced individual training.

Fauteux is a 1984 graduate of Andover High School.

Children's Festival Saturday

The Andover Historical Society, 197 Main St., neighbor to Andover's shopping and professional center, is also participating in Andover's Sidewalk Bazar.

This year's theme is a Children's Festival on Saturday, June 22, from 9:30 a.m to 12:30 p.m. The arrival of "The Campbell Highlanders" to play lively bagpipe tunes between 11 a.m. and noon will highlight the festival.

All morning contemporary activities will introduce children to old-fashioned processes: squeezing lemons to make lemonade, popping corn and shaving off a beard. Reproductions of traditional games and toys will be available for visitors. Collage and bubble-making will add a contemporary side to the festival.

The Barn Museum will be open for tours of the many agricultural, recreational and household tools and equipment in the museum collection.

Food, drink and souvenir photographs of the children will be for sale.

Griggs Named Merrimack Dean

Rev. John E. Deegan, O.S.A., president of Merrimack College, has announced the appointment of Dr. Francis E. Griggs as vice president for academic affairs and dean of Merrimack College.

Griggs, presently chairman of the engineering division at Union College in Schenectady, begins his new duties August 5. His nomination by Fr. Deegan was confirmed by the Merrimack Board of Trustees at their June 14 meeting.

Prof. Marguerite P. Kane, who has been acting vice president for academic affairs, will serve as assistant to the new vice president. She will continue her teaching duties as associate professor of political science.

A native of Valley Falls, N.Y., Griggs served at Merrimack from 1965-79 as professor of civil engineering and chairman of the civil engineering department. He holds bachelor's, master's and doctoral degrees in engineering from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in Troy, N.Y. He also holds a master of science degree in management from Rensselaer.

Griggs was assistant professor of engineering at Hudson Valley Community College in Troy from 1958-60. His professional background includes engineering work with the New York State Department of Public Works, M.S.I. Corporation in Albany, N.Y., Western Electric in New York and the Raymond Concrete Pile Company. He has done private consulting in civil engineerng, working on projects ranging from the structural analysis of the heat shield for the Apollo spacecraft to the Lawrence Municipal Airport Expansion Project.

A fellow of the American Society of Civil Engineers since 1956, Griggs chairs the A.S.C.E. commitee on student services and is a member of the history and heritage committee of the A.S.C.E. He has authored several articles and papers on engineering for journals and national conferences on engineering.

Residents Must Make Telephone Access Choice

New England Telephone customers in Andover will be able to access their choice of a long distance company with "1 plus Area Code dialing" for calls outside the 617 area code, beginning in September.

Since the break-up of the Bell System, New England Telephone no longer provides long distance service to points outside the 617 area code. However, even after the September change, the company will continue to handle long distance calls within the 617 area code and customers will dial them as they do now—1 plus the seven-digit number.

Because New England Telephone is the basic network link to the companies which do provide long distance service beyond the area code, the company is reprogramming its network to give customers a choice in easy long distance dialing.

Residence and business customers in the 470 and 475 exchanges—who are being notified of the conversion to equal access via a special mailing—will be asked to presubscribe to a long distance company.

Customers can select either the long distance company they use now or a new one.

The Federal Communications Commission has ordered that customers may be assigned to a long distance company if they do not make a selection.

All customers should palce a presubsription order at this time even if they make few or no long distance calls to points outside the 617 area code. This is the ony way customers can guarantee they will have uninterrupted, easy long distance calling in the future at no extra charge.

Long distance companies offering equal access to Andover exchange customers are MCI Telecommiunications Corporation, SBS SKYLINE, AT&T Long Distance Service, ALLNET DIAL 1 SERVICE, TDX Systems Inc., GTE SPRINT DIRECT DIAL SERVICE and ITT Longer Distance.

During the next two years, equal access will be made available to more than 50 percent of the residence and business lines served by New England Telephone.

On Dean's List

Steven H. Gibson, son of Mr. and Mrs. A.D. Gibson, Jr., was named to the Dean's List at the Univesity of Massachusetts in Boston for the fall and spring semesters.

Abigail Smith Adams is the only woman in the nation's history to be wife of one president and mother of another.

Four Charged With Theft At Gillette Plant

Four men with former connections to the Gillette Company of Andover have been arraigned in Essex Superior Court on charges emanating from a 1980 theft at the Andover site, Attorney General Francis X. Bellotti announced recently.

Arraigned on charges of larceny of more than $100 and conspiracy to commit larceny were James Moran, 33, of South Boston, Ralph Frizell, 41, of Everett, Roger Andrews, 40, and Joseph Szulewski, 40, both of Somerville.

The indictments climaxed a long investigation by Bellotti's Criminal Bureau, the Gillette Company and a private security firm, First Security, retained by the company. Moran and Frizzell worked for Gillette at the time of the theft, while Andrews and Szulewski worked for a trucking company used by Gillette.

"Too often industrial cases developed by private security firms go unprosecuted," Bellotti said, "but larcenies from the Massachusetts business community are every bit as important to the well-being of the state as larcenies from individuals."

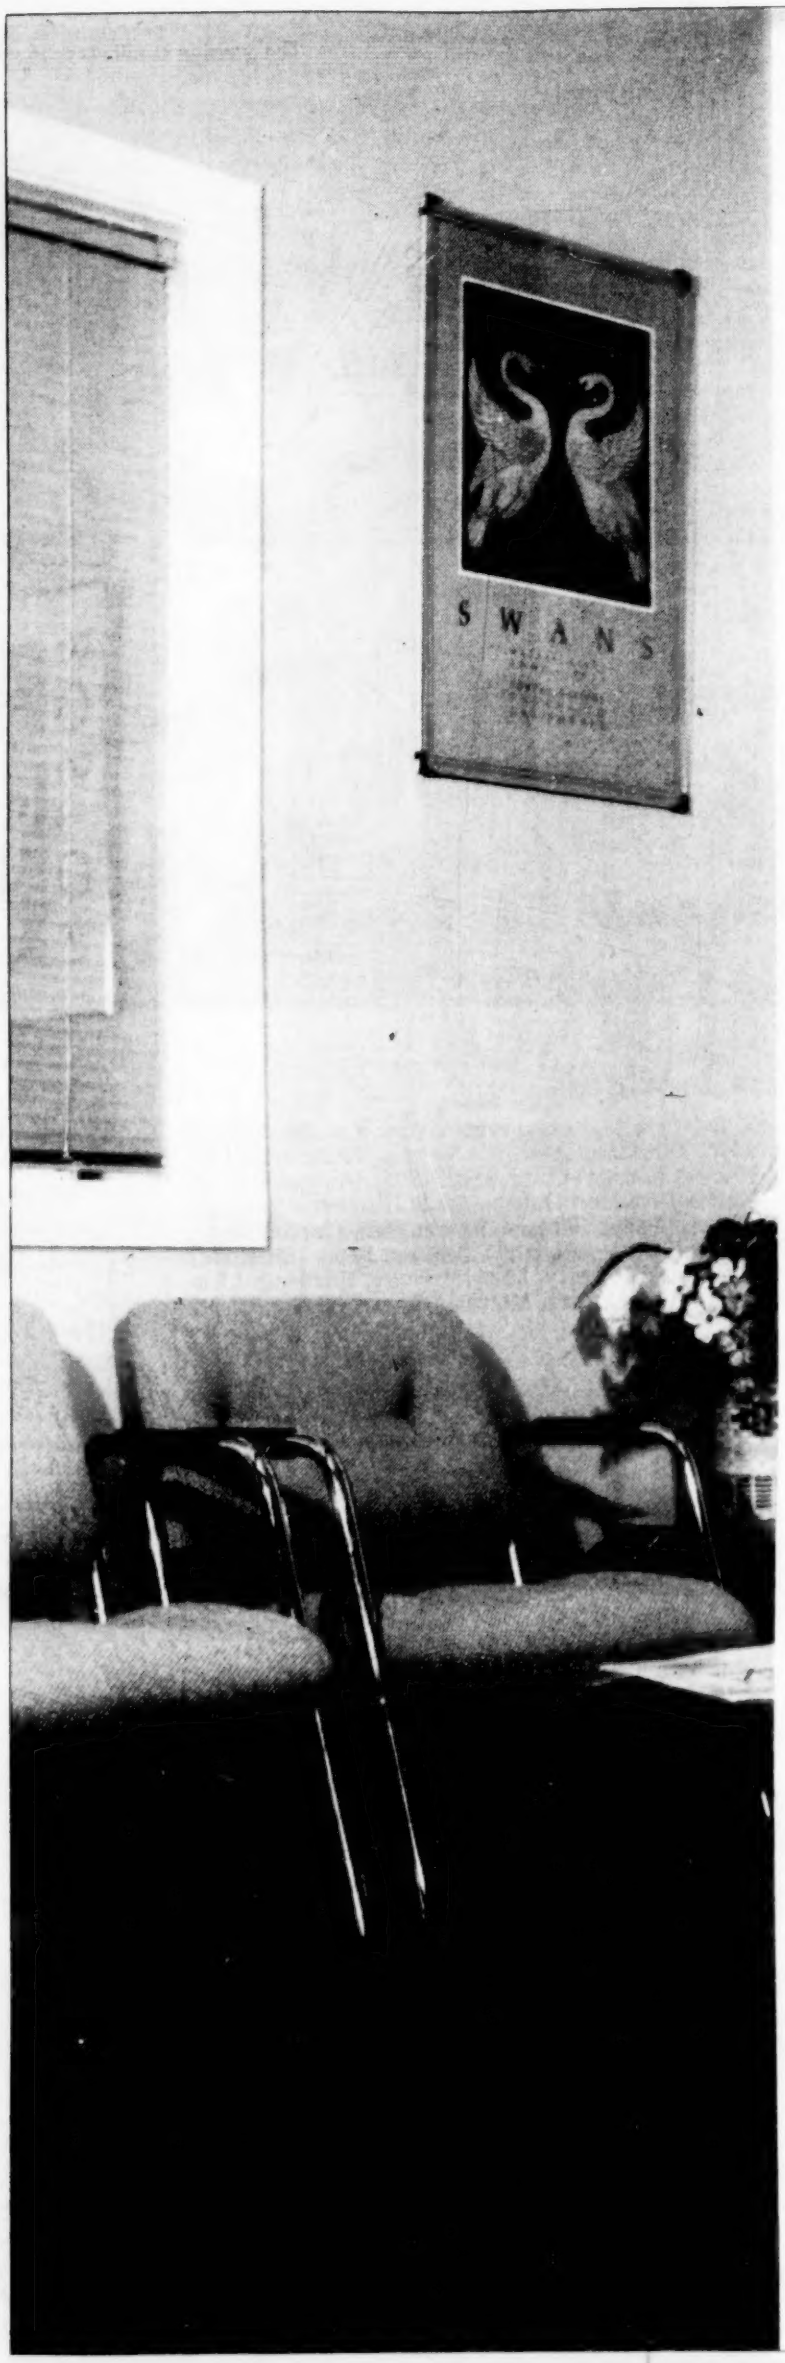

The indictments allege that the defendants took four pallets of razor blades. Company spokesmen put the value of the stolen blades at $160,000.

Assistant Attorney General Raymond P. Lamb, who is handling the case, said Judge Robert Barton released the defendants on personal recognizance and their cases were continued until July 9 for pretrial conference.

BABY TALK

by Jack Resnick

Although many people regard it otherwise, toilet training needn't be a big deal. Like other aspects of child-rearing, training isn't a competition, and years from now, it'll make little difference that you had to launder diapers for six months more than the parents next door. Patience on your part is as important to the baby's toilet training as bladder control; there's no set schedule for toilet training. Most parents expect to begin when their youngster is about 18 months of age...but the child, not the calendar, tells you when the time is right. Nothing you do or say will cause your child to do what he or she doesn't want to.

Shopping at TINY TOT-LAND is a welcomed experience. Convenient hours...Open 9-5:30. Mon. & Th. 9-9. Do all of your shopping for baby in one convenient stop. Toys for all ages..."heaven to seven". Medical Center Open House

The New Walk-In Medical Center and Andover Surgical Day Care Clinic, Inc. at Doctors' Park, 138 Haverhill St., Andover, hosted an Open House Sunday, providing the public an opportunity to tour the new ambulatory care and surgical day care facilities, meet the staff and learn more about the services offered to area residents. The center, which opened its doors to patients Monday, is directed by Charles A. Ellis Jr., M.D., president. Dr. Ellis, a member of the medical staffs at Bon Secours and Lawrence General hospitals, is an internist and holds membership in the Massachusetts Medical Society and the Greater Lawrence Medical Association. According to Dr. Ellis, "The ambulatory care center will provide convenient, high quality, and cost-effective medical care to area residents for virtually any minor illness or injury such as fractures, flus, burns, skin infections, and sports injuries. In addition to urgent and ambulatory care, the center will provide complete laboratory and x-ray services on site as well as a medical-/dental referral service." The Walk-In Medical Center will be staffed by physicians, registered nurses specially trained in ambulatory and urgent care, and x-ray technicians, as well as business and clerical staff seven days a week from 7 a.m. until 9 p.m. Photos clockwise from upper left: Linda Kanan (left) and Jean Markert (far right), both of Methuen, are greeted by Dr. Joseph Rokous, a trustee of Doctors' Park I and II, representing the new medical center; Patricia L. Palermo, R.N., professional services administrator, and Cynthia Fortune, R.N., surgical clinic; A group takes a tour of the different sections of the center; JoAnn Paolino and her son, five-year-old Barry, take a closer look at an anaesthesia machine.

Fund Raising Projects

The students at the Bancroft elementary school involved themselves with a number of fund raising projects for the school and Africa and projects to promote school spirit during the school year. Photos clockwise from upper left: Fourth graders Leah Bernstein and Kathleen Melia and fourth grade teacher and advisor to B.E.S.T. Bancroft Environmental Study Trail, George Walsh, present Principal Iora Alexander with a check for $115 raised by the fourth grade class to promote outdoor education. The money was raised by collecting 2300 empty cans and bottles in and around the school grounds during the school year; Managers of the " Big-B " school store, Bridget Guerrera and Jennifer Webster, both six graders, and Moe Ferris, advisor to the store, present two checks totalling $500.00 to principal Alexander. The money was raised in six months by selling items from the Bancroft school store and will be used for school field trips, the school year book and guest lectures. Missing from the picture is school store manager Karyn Ragonese; Debra Soreff and Maura Collins are two of the Bancroft students who helped at the car wash fund-raising project to raise money for Ethiopia; Sixth graders who were in the "Announcer's Club" made public service announcement tapes and had them aired on a Lawrence radio station between November and April to promote school spirit and report school news. Seated, Meg Hoyt, Amy Brocklesby and Mike Hagerty. Standing, Moe Ferris, Beth Willett, Sonja Behling, Darlene Prochniak, Irene Crane, sixth grade Language Arts teacher, and Jon Elliott.

Participate In Writing Project

Four local teachers have completed a year's collaboration with the University of Massachusetts at Amherst to improve writing at their school, Andover High School. The teachers are Christine Keffeler-Keown, Carolyn Kelly, Sarah O'Brien and Kathleen Scanlon.

They joined 45 teachers from schools around the state in the 1984-85 Writing Project of the University of Massachusetts at Amherst. They spent the last year reviewing new research, studying new classroom techniques and carrying out their own plans to enhance the teaching or use of writing at their schools.

Teachers from each chool worked as a team to develop and execute their projects. Work began last summer at the Amherst campus during a five-day session of workshops, team meetings and writing conferences.

During the school year, while teachers were executing the plans they had drawn up during the summer, Writing Project staff visited their schools. Participating teachers returned to the campus in the fall and spring for one-day conferences. They are now completing final reports to be published as a project summary for use by participants and teachers at other schools in the Commonwealth.

From the outset of their work last summer, teachers began a series of writing assignments to bolster their own experience as writers. This renewed experience of writing became the core of their advice and instruction on writing to students in the classroom.

Collaboration on the teaching of writing between the schools and the university began in 1978 with federal funds, but the current Writing Project was made possible by funds from the university's writing program and the state's Board of Regents of Higher Education. The 1984-85 Writing Project, which cost $50,000, was one of many collaborative projects funded by the Board of Regents with a total of $3 million.

Major Improvements At Boy Scout Camp

Four major improvements at Camp Onway will heighten the camping experiences of North Essex and Lone Tree Councils Boy Scouts this summer. Camp Onway will open June 30 for six weeks. Following these traditional camp weeks, there will be a week for Cub Scouts followed by a leadership training week for advanced scouts.

The rifle range's bullet backstop has been completely remade through the generous donations of equipment and labor by four local contractors. Funds for a new boat dock were provided through a grant from the George MaGee Fund. Protestant scouts will worship in their newly constructed chapel, the George Russell Memorial Chapel. The chapel was built with private funds raised by individuals supportive of scouting. A new Indian village, with several tepees, will be staffed full time so that scouts may learn Indian lore, arts and crafts and dances. Also new this summer are identification plaques on trees so that scouts can develop nature skills. These signs were crafted and posted by Russ Desroches, chairman of the camping committee.

Camp Onway director, Larry Wagner, will oversee an expanded program this summer with the inclusion of the Lone Tree Council Scouts. Due to the State of New Hampshire's Division of Public Health Service testing the lake water upon which the Lone Tree Council's camp is located, it was decided not to operate their camp there this summer. So that Lone Tree Council scouts will not be denied their summer camp experence, they will be welcomed at Camp Onway.

This summer's programs will be expanded with the physical improvements and friendships will be enriched as the North Essex and Lone Tree Council scouts camp together. All campers will have the opportunity to learn of scouting in foriegn countries through the North Essex Council's participation in the SA International Camp Staff program. Friend Guo from the Republic of China, Taiwan, and Michael Johnson and David Jackson from England will serve on the camp staff.

Students who ranked in the top ten of their respective divisions in the Eastern Massachusetts Chapter of A.A.T.F. were Michael Dow, Laura Johnston, Jennifer Murphy, Nancy Higgins, Anna Minkkinen, Julie Madden, Cindy Morrison, Marisa Murtagh, Laura Bicknell, Maya Emswiller and Karina Jeronimedes. Cassell At Security Seminar

Peter I. Cassell, an Andover resident and manager, Management Information Systems, Cognos Corporation, Peabody, recently participated in a week-long National Security seminar sponsored by the U.S. Army War College at Carlisle Barracks, Penna.

Cassell was one of 135 business, government, media and academic leaders from across the country who took part in the seminar from June 3-7. The annual National Security Seminar is the capstone of the ten-month curriculum at the Army War College, the Army's senior educational institution.

Members of the War College's Class of 1985, including officers from the Army, Navy, Marne Corps, Coast Guard, 19 foreign nations and senior civilian employees of the federal government, met in small groups with seminar participants throughout the week to discuss national security issues. While the principal purpose of the seminar is to permit the War College student body to hear a "civilian viewpoint" on defense matters, it also give participants an opportunity to meet and exchange views with the nation's future military leaders.

Featured speakers included Rep. Newt Gingrich of Georgia, Dr. Rudolph G. Penner, director of the Congressional Budget Office, Peter W. Rodman, director of the State Department's Policy Planning Staff, and Secretary of the Army John O. Marsh, Jr., Maj. Gen. Thomas F. Healy, Commandant of the Army War College, hosted the seminar.

The annual trustees reception at Memorial Hall Library for the staff, volunteers and Friends of the Library Board was held Monday, June 17. Cited for their respective 12 and 8 years of service, retiring trustees Robert Butler and Cornelia LeMaitre were presented books by Richard G. Asoian, center, newly elected chairman of the trustees of the library.

Speedreading Course Offered

A morning and evening speedreading course will be offered at Memorial Hall Library this summer. The morning class is scheduled for Mondays and Wednesdays from 10 a.m. to noon, July 15-31. The evening class will meet Wednesdays from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. July 17-August 14.

Designed to meet the academic needs of average and above-average students in grades 7-16, the morning class will place equal emphasis on rate of reading and reading comprehension. Two meetings will be devoted to textbook strategies and study skill techniques.

The evening class is scheduled for the convenience of older students, especially senior high and college students. Adults established in business or the professions will find that this course will substantially reduce the time needed for recreational or professional reading. Techniques learned in this class will be applied to a wide variety of materials, including newspapers, magazines, novels and textbooks.

Materials used range from grade 7 to graduate school level, depending on the ability and progress of each individual. Comprehension practice and counselling follow-up are conducted on a one-on-one format by the instructor, Victor Sanborn of Salem.

Registrations are being taken at the circulation desk at Memorial Hall Library.

Phillips Teacher Honored

Angel Rubio

Juan Carlos I, King of Spain, has recognized the service of a long-time Andover resident and Phillips Academy instructor, Angel Rubio, in awarding him special honors similar to knighthood. Caled the "Encomienda de la Orden de Isabel la Catolica," the distinction now places Senor Rubio at the rare and honorable "Grado de comendador" or "Rank of Commander" by special order of the King.

The award is in recognition of the role Rubio has played since coming to the United States in bringing Spanish culture to Americans. As a member and past chairman of the Boston Spanish Cultural Institute and director of the Boston Barcelona Sister Cities Association, Rubio has brought a variety of distinguished people from Spain to New England, including renowned Spanish writer and poet Jorge Luis Borges, who visited Phillips Academy for three days in the spring of 1983.

The award consists of a scroll signed by His Majesty Juan Carlos I and a medal which reads "Lealtad acrisolado," which translates as "Pure, honest loyalty." This distinciton, representing one of the highest royal honors one can receive from the government of Spain, was conferred at the residence of the Consul General of Spain in New England by Ambassador Andre Drake Alvear on May 29.

When asked what he feels his major contribution has been in bringing the Spanish culture to Americans, Rubio replied, "My teaching." Rubio retired this spring from Phillips Academy, having taught and led its Spanish department since 1965. He and his wife, Cristina, instructor of dance at the academy, have been teachers in the United States since 1950.

Joan Baez Due At Center

An evening with Joan Baez brings the sounds of a music legend to Andover's J. Everett Collins Center for the Performing Arts on Tuesday, July 9, at 8 p.m. Fresh from her triumphant appearance with the Boston Pops this spring, her concert in Andover will mark her only scheduled area appearance this summer.

Since her professional debut at the Newport Folk Festival 27 years ago, Joan Baez has captivated audiences with her exquisite voice that eloquently expresses the message in her music. In her early career as a folk singer, she made old spirituals like "Amazing Grace" and "We Shall Overcome" into popular anthems that spoke for a troubled generation.

She has also sung about more personal concerns. "Diamonds and Rust" chronicled her well-publicized romance with Bob Dylan, while "For David" came at a time when her husband, David Harris, was imprisoned for draft evasion.

Yet, her arrangements of The Band's "The Night They Drove Old Dixie Down" and the Beatles' classic "Let it Be" are sung with all the passion of her earlier folk music.

From her free appearances for charities, UNESCO and civil rights in the early '60s to her rousing welcome at the legendary Woodstock Festival, to her celebrated ten years as one of Vanguard's most important artists, Baez remains one of the favorite entertainers of millions of fans all over the world.

Tickets are available at the Collins Center Box Office, Shawsheen Road, off Routes 133 and 93 in Andover or by phone.

Tickets are also available at Just For You, 36 Main St. and the Main Street offices of the Andover Bank in Andover and North Andover.

The presentation is sponsored by the Andover Endowment for the Arts.

Carillon Recitals Begin July 2

The ninth annual series of summer recitals will be given on the 37-bell carillon in Phillips Academy's Memorial Tower on six successive Tuesdays, beginning July 2 at 7 p.m. The first hour-long recital will feature Sally Slade Warner, carillonneur of Phillips Academy, playing a varied program, including music originally composed for carillon, arrangements of familiar melodies and transcriptions.

The public is invited free of charge. Bring lawn chairs, blankets and picnic suppers. Printed programs and brochures about the carillon will be available in the stand at the tower door. The best listening places will be noted on the back of the program. In case of rain, listen from the parked car. The tower is located at the corner of Main (route 28) and Salem Streets, just south of the Andover business district.

Other recitalists in this year's series will include Andre Wagemans, city carillonneur of Tienen, Belgium; Beverly Buchanan, carillonneur of Christ Church Cranbrook, Bloomfield Hills, Mich.; Suzanne Gates of West Hartford, CT; and Carolyn Reiser of Jacksonville, Fla. An exhibit of classic automobiles by the North Shore Old Car Club will be an added attraction at the July 16 program (rain date: July 23). The final recital by Sally Slade Warner on August 6 will include request numbers suggested by listeners during the previous weeks. Requests and inquiries should be addressed to Saaly Slade Warner, Phillips Academy, Andover, MA 01810, or telephone her at the academy beginning June 27 between 10 a.m. and 12 noon weekdays. The deadline for requests is Friday, July 26.

Summer Series Continues

The summer series of organ recitals at the Methuen Memorial Music Hall continues with Robert W. Johnson on Wednesday, June 26, at 8:30 p.m.

Johnson's recital program includes: Fanfare for Organ, Richard Proulx; Fugue, Chorale and Epilogue, Herbert Howells; Three Chorale Preludes, Johann Sebastian Bach; Prelude and Fugue in D Major, BWV 532, Johann Sebastian Bach; Carillon, Louis Vierne; When the Morning Stars Sang Together, Daniel Pinkham; Crown Imperial, William Walton; Canon in b minor, Robert Schumann; Symphony No. 5, Tocatta, Charles-Marie Widor.

Johnson is organist and director of music at the Pilgrim Congregational Church in Sherborn. He is on the faculty of St. Sebastian's Country Day School in Needham. Johnson is a graduate of Grinnel College, Grinnell, Iowa, and holds the Master of Sacred Music degree from Union Theological Seminary in New York.

The property on the north bank of the Spicket River adjacent to the Music Hall has been a location associated with organs for many years. Early in the 19th century, a wooden building was erected on the site and used as a cotton mill. Edward F. Searles purchased the building around 1890 and remodeled it to house the Methuen Organ Company and organs of exceptional materials and workmanship were manufactured there. The organ factory building was destroyed by fire on June 16, 1943, fortunately sparing the brick hall and organ.

The Music Hall is located on Broadway (Route 28) in Methuen, just south of the square.

The next recital will be Wednesday, July 3, with organist David Dunnett.

Kitchen Design

by David A. Clement, Designer
ON THE SAME WAVELENGTH

Microwave ovens, the appliances that are gradually revolutionizing American kitchens save more than time and energy. By swiftly yet gently cooking and reheating foods, they also preserve their valuable vitamins. With approximately 40 percent of American homes already using microwave ovens and 75 percent predicted by 1990, this translates into a real nutritional boost. According to a Cornell University study, up to 50 percent more vitamin C, one of the most heat sensitive vitamins, is conserved when fruits and vegetables are cooked in microwave ovens compared with those boiled or baked in a conventional oven. Fresh broccoli, for example, needed only six minutes in a microwave oven and retained 59 percent more vitamin C than when it was boiled on a stove for 15 minutes.

Modern appliances do offer convenience in your kitchen. But for total ease and flexibility in your work areas, let WINDSOR KITCHENS remodel your kitchen. We save you time and money because we know what we're doing and we believe we do it best. You'll be able to select from factory and custom built cabinets. We'll come up with new ideas to create the most freedom and function in your kitchen. See us at 1181 Boston Rd., Ward Hill. Mon.-Thurs. 9-5:30, Fri. til 8, Sat. til 2. Tel. 372-3444.

HANDY HINT:
By using inexpensive disposable cookware in a microwave oven, there is less clean-up to do.

Auction

State Treasurer Robert Q. Crane announced that unclaimed property with an appraised woth of $9,000 will be auctioned June 25 at 10 a.m. in Gardner Auditorium, State House, Boston, in compliance with Massachusets Unclaimed Property Law.

Crane said the items come primarily from safe deposit boxes which have been abandoned by their owners and turned over to the state. Included are gold, silver, watches, jewelry, diamonds, antiques, rare coins and other collectibles.

Some of the more interesting memorabilia this year are two letters signed by Civil War General W.T. Sherman, an autographed-first stanza of "My Country 'Tis of thee" by author T.F. Smith, two autographs of silent movie actress Lillian Gish and a 1866 U.S. Senate reporter's pass.

Merchandise can be inspected at Gardner Auditorium from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on June 24.

Massachusetts Abandoned Property Law requires that the contents of safe deposit boxes which have been inactive for eight years be turned over to the Treasury. If rightful owners are not located, the contents are auctioned.

Proceeds from the auction are invested in the state's General Fund where they can earn interest and benefit all residents and taxpayers of Massachusetts.

If paper sticks to a table, pour furniture oil on it and let stand overnight. Next day, rub with a soft cloth. This should remove the paper with no harm to the surface beneath.

Crayons work wonders to cover scuff marks on shoes—even hide skinned places. All you need is a soft cloth buffing to finish the job.

Property Identification Necessary

It is common knowledge that between emergency calls, the Fire Department plans and trains to provide better fire prevention and protection for its community. One aspect of this training is informing the public about existing hazardous conditions that citizens can assist in remedying. Along these lines, the National Fire Protection Association has recommended steps that can be taken by municipalities and residents alike to protect themselves and their properties from serious fires and minimize the danger of extreme damage or increased trauma.

One of these steps is street signs which are provided by cities and towns to facilitate the location of one's property or residence. Many times these signs are removed maliciously and, as a result, adds to the time loss in the response of fire apparatus or police to an emergency call.

Another step is to insure one's house is properly identified. Large or distinctive numbers on houses and/or mailboxes is of prime importance to fire and police departments and can be provided by residents at a very minimal cost

Both items above can be addressed by residents by marking their homes distinctively and reporting to the police department if you see someone removing a street sign. Cooperation by residents will aid emergency personnel to serve their community in the best possible way.

To Examine Trust Funds

Attorney General Francis X. Bellotti announced that he has initiated a statewide financial accounting project aimed at fully utilizing charitable trusts administered by Massachusetts cities and towns. The survey requests financial disclosure of principal, income, distributions and investment practices employed by municipalities.

The survey was begun after a pilot project disclosed that in Salem alone $800,000 of income had accumulated for charitable use. It was also discovered that following an audit requested by the attorney general, $164,000 of Salem trust funds had been embezzled by the former treasurer of the trust fund who pleaded guilty to federal criminal charges related to the incident.

Andover High School social studies teacher Phil Nelson and Tom Meyers, an Andover resident who teachers in Wilmington, discuss their trip in Nelson's high school classroom.

Local Teachers At Education Conference In El Salvador

By Susan Rand

Two local educators, concerned with the state of education in El Salvador, were in that country last week to attend a teacher's conference in the capital city of San Salvador.

Tom Meyers, 17 Rennie Drive, a teacher at Wilmington Junior High School, and Phil Nelson, a Wakefield resident who teaches social studies at Andover High School, were among 25 United States teachers and union representatives, ten of whom are from the east coast, making the trip. The group returned Sunday, June 16.

Both men have worked hard to educate area residents, and their students, about El Salvador's current civil war and the history of the Latin America region. They are members of the Massachusetts Teachers Association and the National Education Association, which has endorsed ANDES, an acronym for Asociacion Nacionale de Educadores Salvadorenos, the teacher's union of El Salvador.

Nelson and Meyers are also active in the Greater Lawrence Central American Solidarity Association, a group which has brought speakers from Latin America to this area and also sent observers to that region. This fall the Greater Lawrence group asked Andover and South Lawrence voters to support a ballot referendum question calling for an end to U.S. military aid to Central America.

Education in El Salvador has little in common with the Andover school system, according to the picture the local teachers paint. Government forces don't consider education important, explained Nelson, and as many of 70 percent of the citizens of El Salvador are illiterate.

They rattle off statistics of the country, one picking up where the other leaves off, teachers haven't been paid in El Salvador since February of 1984, they say, educators are tortured, imprisoned, and over 400 have been murdered since 1979; there are few supplies for El Salvador's school children, they added, so the group is collecting pens and pencils here to bring with them.

And there is the question of U.S. aid to the country. One billion dollars in military and economic aid to El Salvador hasn't found its way into the schools, the two men charge. They question the validity of government claims that the U.S. support is helping foster democracy in the country

"Democrary can't exist without a strong educational institution," said Meyers. " There seems to be something wrong that this isn't a priority of American aid in the country."

Nelson added that "if there is to be social and economic change in El Salvador it has to begin in the schools. If there is that much economic aid to El Salvador why can't it be funneled to education?"

As observers at the ANDES convention Meyers and Nelson said they don't fear for their lives, because, they explained, action against United States citizens might

Pump Station, River Road Improvements Near Reality

By Sue Aucella Deacon

Andover has been viewing them from a distance for several years now, but two major projects — a new sewage pumping station, and the first phase of improvements to River Road — are moving into the range of the foreseeable future.

Public Works Director Robert McQuade this week told the TOWNSMAN that the $6.7 million Riverina Road sewage treatment plant, in the works for more than four years, has finally been put out to bid.

Town officials will open sub-contractors' bids in mid-July, the director said, and general contractors' bids by the end of July. Construction is expected to begin in September, he added.

Andover has already received a $1.4 million state grant to help pay for the pumping station, McQuade said.

In addition, the town is still hoping to receive another $1.5 million grant to help install new force main connections to the existing Lawrence outfall sewer; town officials expect to receive word on that grant next week.

Last year's annual town meeting appropriated funds for the pumping station project, after waiting two years for state and federal Environmental Protection Agency funds that, as of last spring, had not materialized.

Voters appropriated funds to design the new station back in 1981, followed by a $1 million construction appropriation in 1982.

The pumping station will not actually be located on Riverina Road, but on Tantallon Road, across the Shawsheen River from the existing Riverina Road station. The 63-year-old station has long been overburdened, according to the DPW, resulting in occasional sewage backups in Shawsheen Village.

The $1 million construction project that will mark the beginning of River Road improvements was scheduled to go out to bid yesterday, according to Nancy Jeton, principal planner in the Community Development and Planning department.

Those improvements, as approved by 1985 annual town meeting two months ago, will see the intersection of River Road and Old River Road re-aligned; 1,000 feet of River Road will also be widened easterly of Route 93.

In addition, town officials are collecting the data necessary to apply to the state Public Works department for the addition of three traffic lights on River Road: two at the top of two Route 93 exit ramps, and one at the intersection of River Road and Shattuck Road. (Annual town meeting approved funding for those lights as part of its $1 million appropriation this year.)

Finally, Jeton said, design work has begun for more improvements further east along River Road.

At town meeting this year, town officials emphasized that the improvements are intended to improve traffic safety in the heavily-traveled industrial area — and not to make River Road more attractive to new industrial tenants.

The road-widening will include the addition of turning and acceleration lanes near the Old River Road intersection. No land-takings will be needed to widen that section of the road, according to town officials.

Future phases of the River Road project include plans to widen Old River Road to four lanes, widen River Road to six lanes, and complete a new interchange off Route 93.

Plans are also moving along for three DPW projects approved by this year's town meeting. The largest of those projects, a $12.6 million addition to the water treatment plant on Haggetts Pond, will be under construction by late 1985, McQuade said.

The water treatment plant addition — which will more than double the capacity of the existing Lowell Street plant — is currently in the final design stage, the director said. The expanded plant will be able to process 24 million gallons per day, contrasted to the current 11.5-million gallon capacity.

Andover will seek state funding to help finance the expansion. Although the DPW is not yet sure how much of the project will be eligible for state funds, McQuade said he hoped the town would receive a grant of approximately $4 million.

Voters also approved a $1 million appropriation for new water mains in Greenwood Road and Lowell Street to serve the treatment plant.

Those plans, too, are in the final design stage, the DPW director said this week, and will go out to bid around mid-August. Construction of the mains will probably begin in late September of this year, McQuade said.

Town officials will seek state funds to help pay for the mains, but whether they will have any success remains "questionable," he indicated.

Finally, construction of a new $1.8-million gallon water tank approved by annual town meeting is already beginning on Wood Hill where trees are being cleared this week as one of the first steps in the project.

The tank will be used in addition to an existing one-million gallon Wood Hill tank, to help improve water service and fire flow to West Andover, McQuade explained.

The results of two other major town meeting actions this year — amendments to the zoning bylaws re parking and multiple-family housing — are less than clear at this time, according to the principal planner.

The outcome of the Planning Board's successful attempt to lighten up parking requirements for Andover businesses is Backhoes and bulldozers moved into the rear of Memorial Hall Library over the past couple of weeks preparing the way for construction of the addition and renovation of the building.

Residents Adjusting To Recycling Routes

In the first recycling week on the new five-day schedule, a few householders were caught by surprise when the paper pickup truck came around earlier than expected. Although the recycling contractor picks up on a neighborhood's regular trash collection day, he may not arrive anywhere near the same time as the trash truck, and will probably cover the streets in a different order. Especially at the start of these new routes, it is more important than ever to heed the instruction to have all trash and recyclables separated carefully out at the curb by 7 a.m.

The recycling contractor reports that people are still placing trash and recyclable paper together and sometimes even burying paper beneath a pile of trash bags. Paper pickup has been very thorough, judging by the new route (town hall and the recycling committee), but it can be even better with your cooperation.

The next pickup week begins Monday, June 24.

Flag Day Ceremony

The West Elementary School held a Flag Day ceremony last Friday and made an official donation to Ethiopia. The 730-member student body attended and participated in the ceremony with songs, readings and contributions from different grades to show their respect for the old red, white and blue. Photos clockwise from upper left: Ryan Beal, sixth grader, holds the flag during the service; third graders Matthew Rosenbaum and Kristin Rousselle hold up pictures of General Doolittle while Erin Cowhig reads a letter written by the general. The third grade class wrote to the General for a class project and he responded by sending the pictures and the letter; Ellen O'Sullivan and Mike Sullivan read the story about the American Flag; The West Elemetary students raised $380 for Ethiopia by each student sacrificing a little of themselves to give to other children. Presenting the check are: James Redmond, student council advisor, Lindsey Sweeney, fourth grader, Denise Fortuna, fifth grader, Bridget Murphy, sixth grader and student council president, and Principal Jack Coyle accepting the check; The picture of Debra Flashenberg and Stephanie Carroll playing their flutes is superimposed by a picture of the West Elementary flag blowing in the wind. The effect was achieved by printing two negatives, one on top of the other, at the same time; Third grade teacher Frank Rapisardi gets Brandley Krabee started in a flag-folding demostration by the Cub Scouts. Holding the other end of the flag is Charles Bowman and saluting the flag is Thomas Christopher and Randy Gummow; Shanon Kelley waits her turn in reading as Brandon Rhodes reads part of the Gettysburg Address.

An Important Asset

The Collins Center for the Performing Arts has come under some minor controversy lately, most of it focused on the inability of school children to use the facilities due to the heavy cost.

Certainly some sympathy can be engendered for such a cause, but it should be realized that there are other school halls available for school productions at a more reasonable cost.

The Collins Center, in its two years of existence, has proven to be among Andover's most valuable assets.

And, as such, this professional entertainment hall carries with it considerable costs which are applied to productions and to maintenance of the building.

Public school groups wishing to use the facility for plays or concerts must realize that these costs must be absorbed and the only way possible is through the application of fees.

It is understood that the fees applied to such productions cover only the basic costs of opening and using the hall and its facilities.

The Collins Center is a public building constructed and maintained through taxpayer expense. It is more than just a performing arts facility. The building also houses classrooms and rooms where the performing arts are taught for the town's school system.

Prior to its opening there was discussion among selectmen and school committee members as to who would have the governing authority over the building with the schools insisting that it was their property, once accepted by the town.

The Andover Endowment for the Arts, a group of volunteers from within the community, was formed to oversee the operation of the center, with an avowed purpose not to interfere with school events, simply to provide the town's citizenry and those from surrounding areas the opportunity to see professional entertainment.

As for their part, the group has performed magnificently.

From the opening night with the Boston Pops to the first summer presentation, a Joan Baez concert next month, the center has provided thousands with an entertaining evening of everything from opera to folk to jazz. Put simply, the offerings have covered the entire spectrum of the field of entertainment.

The third season promises to be even better, based on advance lineup of star-studded performances slated to begin in the fall.

The artistic directors of the center, Glen Gulezian and John Schuman, are paid for their services, as well they should. It is a difficult task working with agents and insuring the obtaining of top talent to be presented at the center.

Frankly, the Endowment For the Arts group may be able to resolve the problem of allowing wider public use of the facility, but it would seem doubtful just based on cost alone.

But, on performance alone, having come up with two spectacular seasons at the center, it wouldn't be surprising if the volunteer group didn't come up with some solution to the problem.

Meanwhile, thanks for a job well done in producing and maintaining one of Andover's finest assets.

Down The Years With The Townsman

75 Years Ago — June 1910

Miss Bertha Coutts has been elected secretary of the class of 1907, at Simmons College.

W.H. Higgins has purchased a lot of land in North Andover known as Scrub pasture.

The Buccaneers of Andover challenge any baseball team between the ages of thirteen and fifteen years, in the surrounding towns or cities, for the junior championship of the state. The Buccaneers are scheduled to play the Bradlee School team and the Speedboys on the Fourth.

New York, June 30 — A hatchet-faced, under-sized youth in ragged swimming trunks, with a skimp coat and an old pair of trousers thrown over them, dived successfully from the center span of the Brooklyn bridge to the East river, 135 feet below, for $250 in cash, two new suits of clothes and whatever fame the world may hold in store for a bridge jumper. His first words when he was fished out of the river by the crew of a passing tug were: "Gee, I hit hard." The youth is Otto Eppers, 17 years old, the son of a lithographer.

"We are inclined to offer a reward of a small sum for any suggestion that will enable us to bring to the attention of the authorities the terrible conditions coming from the dust on Main street. We have pleaded, begged (of course we have not threatened), written, in prose, dropped into the most classic poetry, cajoled, entreated, almost demanded that some relief must be given. Oh, ye selectmen, pray heed our call! Our throats are parched; our furniture is ruined; our dispositions are in danger. Send even one more barrel of oil and still the troubled dust.

There will be no formal celebration of the Fourth of July in the center of town this year. Ballardvale however will again have a big celebration. The Ballardvale committee is determined to put this year's celebration over with a bang and with the cooperation of the townspeople there will be few idle moments in the Vale from the time the signal is given at 12 midnight for the bonfire until the evening of the Fourth.

Selectman J. Everett Collins, director of the Andover Male Choir, led the combined choruses of the New England Federation of Men's Glee Clubs in part of the program at the Pops concert at Symphony hall, Boston, Wednesday night. About 20 members of the Andover chorus attended, and there were about 35 guests from Andover.

If the signers of the Declaration of Independence had realized that July 4th in 1935 would come on a Thursday and thus cause considerable inconvenience for the Townsman they probably would have delayed signing it until July 6th. They didn't, however, with the result that next week we again have to ask our readers who have notices for publication to have them in the Townsman offices not later than 10 on Wednesday morning. We cannot guarantee insertion of items received after that time.

Worried town officials were this week anxiously promoting the special town meeting scheduled for next Wednesday at 7:30 in Memorial Auditorium, as they anticipated considerable difficulty in getting a quorum. The session will consider four zoning articles and one concerning vacation pay for town employees. Of top concern to most officials is the country club project in West Andover.

Eight local families will have a rare chance this summer to become a working part of the "Experiment in International Living." Seven of them will entertain a teen-age lad from Great Britain, and the eighth will provide hospitality for a teacher who accompanies the boys. No one yet knows who the families will be — that, frankly, is a bit of a problem. For volunteers are needed, and quickly.

The first meeting of the newly-appointed School Building Committee will be held next Thursday night. School Committee Secretary William A. Doherty, appointed to the committee, has called the meeting at the request of Town Manager Thomas E. Duff, who appointed the group. Named, in addition to Doherty, are Benjamin Chase, Warren Lewis, Arthur Peatman, W.R. Hill, C. Lincoln Giles and Ernest N. Hall.

Andover Nets $1.1 From State Lottery

The Massachusetts State Lottery returned more than $1.1 million last year to the Town of Andover in the form of lottery fund distribution, prizes and sales agent commissions and bonuses. "The amount returned to Andover totaled $1,184,384," according to James E. Hosker, executive director of the Massachusetts State Lottery.

"The primary purpose of the lottery is to generate revenues for the cities and towns," according to Hosker. "In our first 13 years we generated more than $1.5 billion toward that objective—money that has gone to support public schools, libraries, police and fire departments, senior citizens' programs and countless other activities undertaken in the public interest by the state's 351 cities and towns. That's a billion and a half dollars that didn't have to be raised through property taxes."

Hosker reports that in 1984 the lottery returned $665,309 million in prizes to the residents of Andover. In addition, a total of $446,499 was returned to the town treasury in lottery funds last year. A total of $2 million has been received by the Town of Andover since the lottery started in 1972. Commissions and bonuses to Andover's five sales agents exceeded $72,000 in 1984 alone.

Some of the Massachusetts State Lottery's significant achievements over the years include the nation's first Instant Game and Megabucks, the most successful lotto-type game in the nation. Some of the upcoming innovations proposed by the lottery include a Megabucks Season Ticket which will enable Megabucks players to play for up to a year with one transaction and a new sales agent identification program that will increase the visibility and accessibility of lottery games at retail locations.

According to Hosker, "The Massachusetts State Lottery is in the best shape it's ever been in and is one of the most successful lotteries in the United States."

The foggiest place in the United States is Cape Disappointment at the mouth of the Columbia River in Washington. It has about 106 days of fog a year.

Women, Negotiations & Divorce

Most property and custody settlements are reached through negotiations rather than litigation. Negotiations can be difficult when a marriage has broken down and feelings have been hurt. You may fear that you will be overpowered in this process by both your husband and your attorney and be coerced into accepting a settlement which does not meet your needs. The advice of an attorney both knowledgeable in family law and sensitive to your fears and wishes can help you assert your rights and negotiate a fair settlement.

Contact Judith I. Nathanson, whose practice is limited to representing women in family law matters.

13-Year-Old League

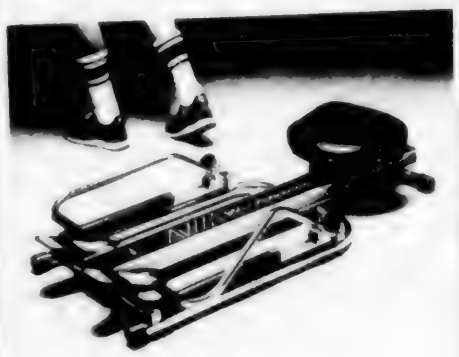

The White Sox, behind the pitching of Chris Broready and Paul Lembo, defeated the Tigers 9-4. Good base running and timely hitting by Brian Ritterhaus (two hits) aided the White Sox cause. Additional offense was provided by Mark Avery, Joe Iarrobino and Dave Tucker. Jason Proctor, Keith Abernathy and Paul Lothridge led the Tigers offensively while Tim Sullivan and Jason Proctor shared pitching duties. Dave Sopp and Lothridge stood out defensively for the Tigers while Lembo and Dan Ferris stood out for the White Sox.

Braves' pitching met the challenge by winning four games in six days to finish the regular season at 13-1. The offense responded as they scored victories over the Tigers, White Sox, Angels and Yankees.

Playoff games this week include: the first-place Braves take on the sixth-place Yankees; second-place White Sox square off against the fifth-place Giant; third-place Angels play the fourth place Tigers. The championship game will be played Friday at 6 p.m. on the Doherty field at Chestnut Court.

Indians 7 - Braves 4

The Indians got back on a winning track by beating the National League Braves in a well-played contest. The Indians scored in the first when Bryan Smith was knocked in by a Ben-Howard single. The Braves threatened after a lead-off double by Brian Lane, but were unable to score. Indians' Chris Shea led the second with a single. After a walk and another single by Mark Hopkinson, Smith unloaded a three-run double. Good baserunning got the Braves two in the third and they tied it up in the fourth. After a walk and three straight singles by Stu Mackey, Scott Halecki and Richard Yost, the score was 4-4. The Indians won it in the fifth on four walks and a sacrifice

Other Indian hitters were Ken Leng, Tom Torrisi and Mike Zetlan. Other Braves' hitters were Brian Noveline and Rejji Hayes.

Both teams played well defensively. Braves' shorstop Brian Noveline and second baseman Andy Noveline made several nice plays. Third baseman Mark Baker and leftfielder Bobby Daley stood out for the Indians.

Hopkinson went the distance for the Indians and pitched very well. Peter Vail and Mackey shared the Braves' mound duties and did well in holding the hard-hitting Indians in check.

Indians 6 - Red Sox 5

The Indians took a very exciting contest from the Red Sox 6-5. The lead changed hands several times with the Indians finally winning in the sixth. Each team used two pitchers, Bryan Smith and Ben Howard for the Tribe, Sean Ryan and Adam Ferry for the Sox. All four pitched very well.

The Sox picked up two in the first on good baserunning and Indian miscues. Mike Zetlan scored for the Tribe in the second after leading off with a single. The Indians went ahead 3-2 in the third on good baserunning by Chris Pothier and Mark Hopkinson. The Indians extended their lead in the fourth. After loading the bases on walks, Pothier knocked in a run with a base hit. The Sox fought back with three in the bottom of the fourth. Four singles by Greg Dyer, Chris Lembo, Sean Ryan and Ferry did the trick. The Indians tied it up in the fifth on walks and won it in the sixth. With two out in the last inning, Howard reached first on a single and stole hs way around for the winning run.

Other Indian hitters were Tom Torrisi and Hopksinson. Zetlan and Howard each had a double and a single.

Indians 1 - Yankees 0

Both teams handled the pressure well and gave the fans a seat. Jeff Foley went the distance for the Yanks and was the undeserved tough-luck loser. Mark Hopkinson and Ben Howard each pitched three for the Indians with Bryan Smith doing wrap-up duties.

The Indians threatened in the first on base hits by Hopkinson and Howard, but Foley got the next batter. The Yanks had their turn in the second. Lawrence Gibson reached on an error and Jason Twombley knocked a double down the leftfield line. Hopkinson, however, retired the next two batters. In the third Hopkinson walked and Smith singled to put men on first and second. Howard then lined a single to center. Centerfielder Geoff Schaake made an outstanding play and threw a dead strike to catcher Greg DerAnanian to pick off the runner trying to score from second.

The Indians scored the game-winner in the last of the fifth. Singles by Hopkinson and Smith and a walk to Howard loaded the bases. A Ken-Long fielders choice pushed the run across.

The Yanks threatened in the last. Schaake and Rodd Malitsky walked. Shad Flag drilled a shot down the rightfield line. First baseman Chris Pothier made a diving stop to keep the ball in the infield and the run from scoring. With bases loaded and a two-ball count on the next batter, Smith came on in relief and struck out the last two batters.

The Yanks combination of John Bishop and Kevin Murphy and pitcher Foley were outstanding. Indians' second baseman Tom Torrisi made several outstanding plays. Rightfielder Matt Reghetti made another of his shoestring catches. Pothier, in a his first outing as a catcher, did well.

Orioles 8 - White Sox 7

The Orioles defeated the White Sox 8-7 in an exciting contest decided in the last inning with the final out with bases loaded with White Sox. The Orioles held a slim 8-6 lead going in to the home half of the sixth. The Sox's Brad Cronin reached on an outfield error. Mike DiStefano and Scott Eggert walked to load the based. On successive plays, the Orioles' third baseman, Mike D'Angelo, and first baseman, Peter Arthur, threw out the baserunners at the plate on forced situations taking advantage of a drawn-in infield. Mike Famiglietti drew a base-on-balls, focing home the seventh run. Orioles' relief pitcher Shawn Garrity struck out the final Sox batter for the win.

Earlier in the game, the Orioles' Paul Durant, who shared pitching duties, had three base hits (2 RBIs), D'Angelo and catcher Kevin Lewis (2 RBIs) had two each. Arthur, Adam Goddess, Andy Brent, Brian Workman and Ron Rygwalski chipped in with Oriole safeties. Rookie second-baseman John Bowman was a defensive standout with two putouts and an assist. Chad Bowman, playing an infield slot, also had an assist.

Air Conditioning

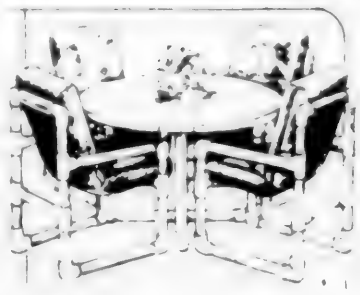

History tells us that the ancient Egyptians, Greeks and Romans used wet mats to cool indoor air. They hung the mats over the doors to their tents and other dellings. when the wind blew through the mats, evaporation of the water cooled the air. the people of India later used this method to cool their royal palaces. About 1500, Leonardo da Vinci, the great Italian artist and scientist, built the first mechanical fan to provide ventilation. Water power turned the fan. In 1553, the Eenglish developed a rotary fan to ventilate mines.

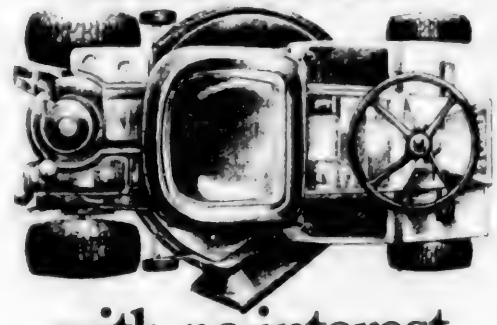

In 1902 Willis H. Carrier, a research engineer, designed the first scientific system to clean, circulate and control the temperature and humidity of air. Thus, the air conditioner was born.

Andover National Majors Little League

By Jim Arnold

The Pirates have hit stride when it counts most in the race for first place as the National Major League Division of the Andover Little Legue enters its final week of regular season play.

Both clubs toppled the first-half champion, Cardinals, last week and now share first place, one game head of the Redbirds.

Pirates 4- Cardinals 3

Mike Haggerty's bases-loaded single in the bottom of the seventh inning drove Matt Orlando home with the winning run as Manager Mike Murnane's Pirates halted the Cardinals' ten-game win.

The Pirates jumped on lefty David Corbett for three runs in the first. Walks hurt Corbett, but Bryan Boucher's bases-loaded double to left centerfield hurt a lot more.

Boucher was to prove equally effective on the mound as he fanned one Cardinal after another. The score wuld remain 3-0 until a Card surge in the fifth frame. A Jason-Connelly base hit, followed by two walks, a fielder's choice and a rare Pirate miscue resulted in a tie score.

It stayed that way until the seventh inning when the Cardinals loaded the bases with no one out. But Mike Haggerty, who came on to relieve Boucher, induced three consecutive infield popouts to escape the jam.

Boucher struck out 12 in his stint, while Haggerty got credit for the win. Corbett struck out five and was aided by oft-incredible defense from Justin Hesinius and Jarrod Martellucci.

Mets 8 - Cardinals 2

Bill Batchelder and his mates claimed a convincing 8-2 triumph over their arch-rivals, the Cardinals. He struck out eight while his teammates turned in a sparkling errorless effort.

The Mets jumped out early when Todd Allard singled home Jim Landry in the op of the first. But Cardinal Adam Brown got that back in a hurry by slamming a leadoff round tripper, his third of the campaign. The Cards then went up 2-1 when Donny Fraser singled home Brown who had doubled in his next at bat.

In inning four Richard Radulski doubled with two on, then was brought around when Landry doubled. Bill Batchelder capped the rally with an RBI single. Fifth stanza hits by Jamey Kionette and Radulski resulted in the final two Met runs.

Braves 7 - Orioles 6

Richard Yost, Stuart Mackey and Peter Vail combined to outlast the Orioles 7-6 in a tight interleague contest.

The Braves jumped on top when Danny Waitkevitch walloped a homer after Brian Lane had doubled. The Orioles got one back, however, when Devin Lewis doubled home Shawn Garrity.

In the third, Waitkevitch stroked a single, Scott Halecki doubled and Mackey doubled for two additional Brave markers. The Orioles responded in their half with a Paul-Durant base hit and Ron Rygwalski sacrifice fly.

The Braves carried a 5-3 edge into the sixth inning and added two more runs. Smart base running by Halecki after he had been walked resulted in one score. Mike Henry followed with a double and crossed home on an Oriole miscue with what proved to be the winning run.

The Orioles almost managed to knot hitting when Andy Brent produced an RBI single and Kevin Lewis doubled. But Vail jammed the final Oriole hitter to force a pop out ending the ballgame.

Durant and Garrity split mound chores for the Orioles and hurled admirabley.

Braves 9 - Mets 6

Tim Lane's Braves weathered a 4-0 deficit, coming up with an eight-run, fourth-inning outburst to seal a win over the Mets.

Justin Lattanzio, Bill Batchelder and Ben Russell boomed safeties as the Mets charged to an early 4-0 advantage. The Braves' first two batters were retired in the fourth, but two walks and a Rejji-Hayes single clogged the runways. Brian Lane proceeded to unload a three-run double to cut the Mets' lead to one.

Danny Waitkevitch, Stuart Mackey and Andy Novelline kept things going by sandwiching basehits around walks and, when the Mets finnaly recorded the inning's final out, the Braves had an 8-4 lead.

Mike Henry came on to hurl three outstanding innings of relief to wrap things up. Todd Allard pitched well for the Mets, striking out 13.

The Massachusetts Patients' Rights Law stipulates that hospitals and clinics licensed by the Department of Public Health maintain complete records of a patient's treatments, including medical history and nurses' notes. A hospital must keep the records for 30 years, while a nursing home must maintain them for five years. The law empowers patients to inspect the record and obtain that record for-a reasonable copying fee.

Museum Celebrates Anniversary

The most remarkable thing about the Museum of American Textile History is how steadfast it has remained to its purpose in the 25 years since it was founded, says one "outside observer," Paul Rivard, director of the Maine State Museum.

As trustees and staff gathered at the Lanam Club in Andover on Monday, June 10, to celebrate the museum's 25th anniversary, Rivard called the Museum of American Textile History "an enviable institution—enviable in its ability to stick to the job at hand."

That job, set forth by the museum's founders on June 9, 1960, was "to preserve the artifacts, documents and pictorial descriptions of the American textile industry.."

"The Museum of American Textile History is the premier institution of its kind in the country, possibly the world." said Rivard.

On the other hand, he said. the weakest part of the museum's overall program is its exhibit development.

"The collections demand more public exposure and use than they can now get," he said. "The public needs to be more aware of our nation's industrial development."

Referring to the museum's proposed move to larger quarters in Lawrence, Rivard said, "This is a very important point for the history of this organization."

Discussing the museum in its early years was J. Bruce Sinclair of Toronto, the museum's founding director.

"There was an insistence that the objectives be conceived as broadly as possible and a determination to do the best possible job," he said.

The appeal of the new museum for its founders, said Sinclair, was in "exploring our own backyard." The museum was organized with three important components that remain significant today: public exhibitions, archives for study and a library.

Edward B. Stevens, president of the museum, read congratulatory letters to the museum from Gov. Michael S. Dukakis and directors of the National Museum of American History in Washington, D.C., the Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village in Dearborn, Mich. and the Hagley Museum and Library in Wilmington, Del.

At the annual meeting preceding the dinner, Bruce W. Nealy of Davison Publishing Co., Inc., Ridgewood, N.J., was elected a member of the corporation. Re-elected as officers were Edward B. Stevens of Andover, president; Richard A. Kapelson of North Andover, treasurer; and Clifford E. Elias, Esq., of North Andover, secretary.

Re-elected as trustees were Charles E. Buckley of Mont Vernon, N.H.; Thomas E. Cargill, Jr., Esq., of Boston; Philip Y. DeNormandie of Boston; A. Hunter Dupree of Providence, R.I.; William B. Gannett of Hopedale; J. Craig Huff, Jr., of Sanderstown, R.I.; Robert W. Lovett of Beverly; Alice McCarthy of Boxford; Allen Morgan of Wayland; John O. Myers of Andover; Gordon Osborne of Lincoln; Bruce Paul of Ipswich; Samuel S. Rogers of Andover; Rose M. Scuderi, M.D., of Lawrence; Whitney Stevens of New York City; Dean K. Webster of Andover; Robert Webster of North Andover; and Helen C. Wood of West Bradford, PA.

Re-elected as members of the corporation were Alfred D. Chandler, Jr., of Cambridge; Newell Flather of West Newton; William B. Gerraughty of North Andover; John A. Goodwin of Chelmsford; Herbert W. Gray of Meredith, N.H.; David S. Landes of Cambridge; George M. Naylor of Framingham; S. Forbes Rockwell of North Andover; Caroline S. Rogers of North Andover; Horatio Rogers, M.D., of North Andover; Karl Spilhaus of Boston; Kathy C. Stevens of North Andover; and John S. Sullivan of Andover.

Named Chief Executive Officer

The board of directors of Standex International Corp. (NYSE) has approved the election of President Thomas L. King of Andover to the additional position of chief executive officer, effective July 1.

He succeeds Daniel E. Hogan who announced his retirement from the chief executive position, but will continue as chairman of the board and chairman of the executive committee. Hogan will concentrate his future activities in the areas of acquisition, corporate development and strategic planning.

A graduate of the The Harvard Business School (MBA-Finance) and Harvard College (A.B.-Economics), King joined Standex in November 1963. He was named a vice president in 1968, appointed to the board of directors in 1970, assumed the responsibilities of treasurer in 1974, became senior vice president in April 1979 and was elected president and chief operating officer in August 1984.

King has also served as president of several of Standex's operating divisions, including its former Coca-Cola bottling operations in South America and the Club Products housewares manufacturing division.

Hogan is one of the founders of Standex and has been its chief executive officer snce the company's founding in 1955. Since then he negotiated Standex's acquisition of more than 100 companies and the divestiture of about 25 units. In the announcement, Hogan stated that, "at age 67, it is time to turn the job over to the next generation." He added that "Tom King's outstanding contributions in all facets of Standex's operations over the past 22 years show clearly that he is eminently qualified for the chief executive position."

Hogan noted that, "In its finances and in its operations, Standex is in the strongest position in its history." King stated that "Standex has the financial resources and management strengths necessary to enable it to grow internally and through acquisitions" and he added that "we are actively seeking acquisition prospects at the present time." He added, "With our debt-to-equity ratios at an all-time low, with laggard units phased-out or sold and with our operating units lean and productive, I feel that there are many opportunities available to Standex which should enable the company to achieve new levels of profitability in the years ahead."

Thomas L. King

Standex International is a diversified manufacturer operating in five basic growth areas: institutional products, consumer products, graphics, industrial products and electronics.

jeopardize aid to the country. The delegation will register with the American Embassy in El Salvador, "as a protective device," explained Meyers.

At the conference, which ran from June 11 through 13, the American visitors will "make statements of support," Meyers said.

They will also look at the attempts the Salvadoran teachers have made at organizing. One roadblock the union must face is the government's refusal to allow publication of the ANDES newsletter, which is printed outside El Salvador. But despite the difficulties involved in being a union member, 95 percent of the country's teachers are members of ANDES, the educators said.

The Americans weren't the only visitors at the ANDES conference, which Nelson said has taken on international attention, as European countries also send observers.

Some of those making the trip to El Salvador continued on to Nicaragua without Nelson and Meyers who had to return to finish out the school year. But the two men also got a look at schools in the countryside, a United Nations refugee camp.

Each member of the American delegation had to raise money for the trip which will run about $1,000 per person. Nelson's air fare, amounting to about $600, has been paid for by the Educational Improvement Association, he said. The group, which serves all of Andover's schools, pays for special opportunities for teachers that aren't covered by the school budget.

Reality

difficult to gauge at the moment, Jeton said, because the downtown parking situation is "so much in flux," with the Bartlet Street lot and Memorial Hall Library both under construction.

To date, no property-owners have applied for a special permit from the board to provide off-site parking spaces for their businesses; however, such requests may be forthcoming. "I expect to see a couple of applications this summer," she said.

As for the new zoning amendment that allows multi-family housing in town, by special permit from the planning board: that, too, has had no takers to date.

Jeton noted that the planners expected minimal response to the new zoning from developers, since it is generally seen as a rather conservative approach to multi-family housing.

She explained that developers who've inquired about the new zone seem wary of its one-to-one density requirement.

On Line Demystifies the Microchip

So you're thinking of divorcing your computer.

Wait. Let On Line Computer Systems of Andover mediate your differences, because understanding your microchip miracle can be as easy as 1-2-3.

In fact, 1-2-3 (Lotus 1-2-3 business software for the IBM computer, that is) just happens to be the subject of some very informative seminars planned by On Line for this summer. These full-day classes, limited to 15 participants each, are given by Droste Consultants—whose national clientele includes AT&T Information Systems. They feature jargon-free hands-on experience for those whose business could use a boost from the software so versatile that it can keep tabs on a home shop, or power a complicated international conglomerate. If you're a secretary, exec, clerk, accountant or a mere mortal computer neophyte, you'll want to check with On Line for information about July's seminar.

If you simply want to get a rein on your little home Apple, On Line's "Apple Expert" Mark Hessman's your man. He'll train you at home, or in the shop, to master your new machine, or to work out the bugs in your old faithful's programming.

How about graphics? On Line can sell you the software to crank out verrrrry impressive charts and grafts for your next board presentation. Or they can do the job for you, with full-color line graphs, circles, pies, bars, custom artwork, virtually any format.

You might wonder why Richard and Salvatore Bramante, Mark Hessman and Mary Ann Delanoy of On Line are so obliging. Simple; as an independent company (no relation to the similarly-named chain), they realize that service is their best drawing card. Sure, they sell computers—from the "biggies" to the cute little briefcase-sized Epson. And accessories, peripherals, supplies, software and all that "Jazz". But so do others. The service, though—that's strictly On Line. Check it out at 2 Elm Square: M-Th 9-7; F 9-9; Sat 9-6. Or phone 470-3075.

Lawrence Venetian Blind: New Owners; Same High Standards

"All the projects we've undertaken have meant a lot of work for us—but we've always succeeded." The speaker, Linda Duarte, sits amid samples and paperwork in the office of the business she and her husband now own: Lawrence Aluminum and Window Products (formerly Lawrence Venetian Blind Co., Inc.) of 191 Mt. Vernon St., Lawrence.

Dick and Linda Duarte are no strangers to the world of small business. Together, they own a cottage colony on Lake Winnipesaukee; they renovated and modernized it themselves, as they did their School Street home in Andover. They are craftspersons who have sold their own products (he builds furniture; she fashions cut-and-pierce shades and lampshades).

So owning a full-time hands-on business is an appropriate step for the Duartes. The couple have plans for the Lawrence Aluminum and Window Products, including future expansion. They are quick to add, however, that they will continue to carry the full line of fine products, and offer the same top-notch service, that has characterized Lawrence Venetian Blind's 43-year history. Former owners Fred and June Langer will be working with them during the first year of new ownership to help ensure a smooth transition.

Lawrence Aluminum and Window Products sells and services virtually anything that could be used as a window treatment, interior or exterior, including the windows themselves. Shades—standard, fabric and woven wood or metal combinations—awnings, shutters, curtain rods, verticals, and blinds of all types, including the new thin-slatted creations which add both color interest and window insulation. New lightweight security shutters to protect cottages and businesses from vandalism and the rigors of winter weather. Need to enclose a porch or install a car port? Call 682-1507; Lawrence Aluminum and Window Products can do it. The scope and assortment of products has to be seen to be appreciated, so stop by M-F 8-5, Sat 8-12—and let Dick and Linda assist you with your exterior or interior window needs.

trict, with replies from 5,400 residents to be used in plotting the future of the area. The selectmen, Monday night, approved establishment of a special Study Committee following discussion with Planning Board member William Banton, who has been working on the matter with an ad hoc committee.

A survey that might have led to a pilot program of traditional education in the Andover schools in September was turned down by the School Committee Tuesday night. However they did agree to go ahead with a survey of instructional alternatives — basically "traditional" or "open classroom" — in September, that could affect the following school year.

Andover's population may have gone up as much as 2,000 in the past five years, according to preliminary statistics counted in the state census. Town Clerk Elden R. Salter reported this week that the figures are now being fed to the computer and actual statistics await a printout, but his approximation of the 1975 head count indicate the town's population to be in the 26,000 area. The official federal census taken in 1970 listed Andover's population at 24,079.

CAN DUPLEX SELL AS CONDO?

If you own a two family house and would like to sell, have you thought about converting it and selling it as two condominiums? When you think about it it makes sense. If you would market the house as-is, you might ask $150,000 for it. On the other hand, if you sold it as two condominiums you could probably sell the two units for $85,000 each for a total of $170,000. One reason for this is that the market increases by the affordability of the selling price. It will be a lot easier to find two buyers to qualify for $85,000 than one buyer to qualify for $150,000.

In the past we all thought that condominium conversion was an option open only to large complexes. Things have changed. Today's procedures and documentation have been simplified and standardized to allow most owners of multiple units, no matter how few, to seriously consider condo conversion.

If this is your case, we woud be happy to explore this option with you and compare the costs and rewards of the standard vs. the condo approach.

Planners

you can talk about the Central Business District without talking about the town as a whole," he told the board, saying that the current CBD planning "seems to be taking things out of context."

He urged the board not to try to "rush a CBD plan" to meet an "artificial deadline" next spring. "I think we need an overall master plan," Bowen said, "before we talk about doing anything to any zone, let alone the Central Business District."

Bowen concluded that downtown Andover is "not as beautiful as it could be," and suggested that the town "concentrate on the quality" of its business district at this time.

(Bradshaw replied that the planners will work on two major components of the master plan this year: CBD planning, and watershed protection. Last year the board completed, with town meeting approval, components on parking and multiple-family housing.

(Consultants will soon be contracted to work on the community profile "background" section of the plan, as well as a road and traffic study, she added.

(The chairman pointed out that the planning board sees the master plan as "an ongoing process," and something to be "continuously updated," rather than as a final report that will be "put on the shelf.")

Several downtown business-owners spoke on the "pro" side of possible CBD expansion, among them Howard Yezerski of the Andover Gallery.

He noted that the business district has not grown in the past 25 years, "and in that twenty-five years, we've seen a tremendous increase in the number of people living in Andover now, and shopping in the Central Business District."

Yezerksi added that because rental rates are "very high," there "aren't many viable spaces in Andover for small businesses." Moreover, looking at Main Street, it seems that "the banks are taking over the town," he said — "and it's important to have a healthy Central Business District."

Lee Dodd of Lee Dodd Realty said, "There is no question in my mind that we need a larger business district."

Dodd told the board that she had searched for ten years before finding her current Park Street location, because there were "no places to buy," and most Andover properties are "expensive. We need more different kinds of space."

Marion Colgate of Bartlet Street, a private homeowner who lives next to the new town parking lot, agreed with Yezerski that as the town's population has increased, "businesses want to expand.

"I don't want to see anything detrimental happen here," Colgate said. "I think a buffer zone is an excellent idea."

Doug Howe, Jr., of the Howe Agency brought up the buffer zone idea, which several speakers favored.

Such a zone could be created as "a belt around the CBD," including a "comfortable mix" of office space and residences, to provide an "appropriate transition" from the commercial zone into surrounding neighborhoods, Howe said.

He said he would encourage the renovation of existing buildings (rather than new construction) for use as offices within the buffer zone. Requiring building owners to occupy those offices would be another way to limit expansion within the buffer, he suggested, and "keep things quite strict.

"There is obviously change in the town," he said. "That has been going on forever. Andover keeps growing, and changes are often difficult to make."

But the CBD's borders "may have to change, in the best interests of the community," Howe told the planners — adding that he was confident that if the CBD does expand, the "character" of the town "will in fact be preserved."

The planners also wanted to hear whether residents of West Andover and the southern section of town, toward North Reading, are interested in having new business districts added to their parts of town.

Donald Barber of Brady Loop, a member of the West Andover Neighborhood Association, said that according to informal surveys of WANA members, "We see no great need for shopping centers in West Andover. We're not too pleased with that type of thinking, and we'll resist it."

(Barber also put in a plug for the new traffic and parking committee, of which he is a member; the committee is looking for solutions to parking problems all over town, he said, and welcomes citizens' suggestions.)

Chris Holmes told the planners that the League of Women Voters found "no support" for bringing "consumer services" to Andover's "outlying" areas.

The planning board Tuesday night handed out a brief "overview" of the four CBD studies that have been done in Andover since 1962, along with a map of the district.

That report noted that in 1975, a survey of townspeople sponsored by the planning board and selectmen found that "commercial growth anywhere in Andover had little support of any kind."

The most recent CBD study, done by a planning board subcommittee formed in 1977 and disbanded in 1980, resulted in the recent renovations to Elm Square, according to the report.
